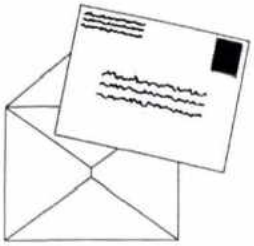
Pencil Marks

2023

Letter from the Editor



Hello pinners and welcome to the 2023 edition of Pencil Marks.

I hope you all had a wonderful Christmas and New Year . We have seen some fantastic wins for the pins at Champ shows throughout 2023 which is great to see , as we all know what you see is what you get with a pin with nothing to hide ,so great achievements all round.

I only attended a few shows last year and will be even less for 2024 , life has got very busy at home. On that note after 11 years as your editor this will be my last Pencil Marks , I feel it's ready for new eyes and someone with more time and skills that can continue to take it forward.

I would like to thank each and every one of our members that have contributed to this and past publications throughout the years, this is your newsletter and without you there would be very little content. I am now handing the editorial reins over to Charlotte Westerman , I hope that you continue to support her in her new role .

For a final time I hope your little people continue to bring you happiness and laughter throughout 2024.

On a cold and wet day in November club members set off from various corners of the UK to meet at the Kennel Club for our rescheduled Breed Lunch that had to be delayed due to Covid. Meeting at various stations in London we all made our way to Clarges Street. Once outside we spent time getting our pictures taken with the sign to mark the occasion.

It's quite an unassuming building from the outside and except for the signs it could be any other office block. Once inside we were treated to tea and coffee in the lounge whilst we waited for the tour to begin.

There was some added excitement when some of the group manage to go up and down in the lift a few times and get an extra tour due to some miscommunication on what floor we should be on.

We started with a tour of the museum and whilst they do not have anything that is specific to the breed it was amazing to see the painting. There were also displays looking at the history of women and the kennel club and the YKC.

Miniature Pinscher Rescue Report for 2023

2023 has been a very quiet year, with only one little man rehomed. This was a little black and tan boy who was 4 years old and sadly his owners decided to part company. He arrived here and when I approached him he tried to take my hand off. This state of affairs lasted for 4 days before he decided that I was alright and he could have a cuddle whenever he liked. He went to live with a delightful lady who is a retired prison warder and it was love at first sight. I got a series of phone calls to say that he washed her face and then slept under her duvet behind her knees, and she was delighted with him. I call that a happy ending.

Through the year we have been asked to take a few dogs but they have never come to fruition and I am seriously worried that the little mites are being sold, and who knows what then happens to them.

One sad bit of news, Misty, that I wrote about last year had to be put to sleep due to cancer of her spine. I am in touch with her owners and if all goes well they will have another little person in about a month, as we have two that are booked to come to us in the next couple of weeks.

Finally I would like to thank Mr and Mrs Park, Wendy Eyles and Janet Smith-Wilson for their kind donations at Christmas, and to say that Rescue is financially very sound.

Thank you all so much for your support and I hope you and your dogs have a good 2024

Miniature Pinscher Health Report for 2023

I would like to thank the Miniature Pinscher Club of GB and the Scottish Miniature Pinscher Club for continuing to support me in my role as Breed Health Co-ordinator (BHC)

The Kennel Club in its wisdom, has decided that all BHCs should only hold the role for 3 years, after which time the breed clubs must decide amongst themselves to re-elect a BHC, which may or may not be the present one. No-one seems to know why this has been brought in and I can see problems arising if records have to be transferred and health plans changed every time a new BHC comes in. Most breeds will probably stick to the BHC they already have but there has already been one instance of a hard-working but politically unpopular BHC being voted out.

We have had two successful patella testing sessions in 2023 at the AGM and Championship Show most are listed below. There are a few others which are on my laptop which I can't access today so if anyone is worried that their dog is not on the list below please message me so I can check that I have got your form.

Please continue to have your breeding stock patellar scored – The Royal Kennel Club has now added it as a recommendation .

Patella Scores 2022/2023

The following Miniature Pinschers have been examined under the scheme from Jan 2022 /2023 and their owners have given permission for the results to be published:

DOGS NAME	SCORE	OWNER
Pernickety Pace Of Danton	0:0	Watkins
Pinico Red Rebellion	0:0	Santoriello
Galkerah's Antonia To Kreiger	0:0	Stracey
Danton Who Dares With Kingrock	0:0	Thomas & Godfrey
Hawksflight Hello Dolly For Teilidor	1:1	Mackie & Bugden
Rayjen Cup Cake	0:0	Park
Teffy's Felix Felicis	0:0	Twigg
Jaegerson Hendrix	0:0	Cherry & James
Pinico Roses Are Red	0:0	Santoriello
Pinicio Pirouette	0:0	French
Collypins Klickety Klick	0:0	Collinson & Dare
Collypins Supersonic	0:0	Collinson & Dare
Kaypin Hey Diddle Diddle	0:0	Reddington
Aquepins Jessica Fletcher	0:0	Billington
Aquepins Phryne Fisher	0:0	Billington
Aquepins Agatha Raisin	0:0	Billington
Adurus High Flyer For Catamyrann	0:0	Hewitt
Rayjen Pumpkin Pie For Shamal	0:0	Hinchcliffe
Pinico Twist & Shout	0:0	Santoriello
Sticmaze Slapstick With Zoomera	0:0	Hartley & Fahey
Vardenais Petite Noir	0:0	Coull
Hawksflight Hot Pursuit	0:0	Watkins & Bugden

At the moment the results show that there are a lot of Min Pins out there who are doing well in the show ring and who have healthy patellas. The more we test and the more that have good scores, the less justification there is to breed with dogs with slipping patellas or who have not been tested.

The test forms and a copy of the Putnam Test protocol for the information of the veterinary surgeon can be downloaded from the Miniature Pinscher Club website to be found at www.miniaturepinscherclub.co.uk
Anyone, whether or not they are a member of the Miniature Pinscher Club can download a submission form and an instruction sheet for their veterinary surgeon from the Min Pin Club website
We can also include other individuals who have been tested without this system as long as the form/certificate is signed by a practising veterinary surgeon in the UK.
The point that is important to make is that, when your vet fills in the submission form, they MUST make sure that the dog's full KC name and number are on the form together with its microchip number – I have had two forms submitted recently that were completely blank as far as the dog's details were concerned so they were unacceptable.

It would be great if we could have all our breeding stock tested under the scheme – apart from the health aspects, it also helps to put a clear gap between responsible breeders and the puppy farmers.
Responsible breeders should be telling their puppy owners to be aware that if patellae are causing problems they would see some degree of lameness or hopping on the back legs – if the puppy isn't lame it doesn't need surgery.
Encourage your puppy buyers to tell you if this happens so you can best advise them. I can always be contacted to discuss this with the owner if you think it would be useful.

Introducing Romeo to the pinion pack!

I think a few of the Min Pin people know me now....

I like to do sports with my beloved pinion pack and have now covered Rally, agility, heelwork to music, hoopers, bikejor, mud runs, paddle boarding pups, scentwork, and mantrailing with them.

But something I had only ever been to watch was showing, visiting a few club shows and Crufts every year.

I openly admit I have no eye for what makes a well-bred pin, but I know what I like, and when watching some dogs showing at Crufts last year I spotted one little dog that really took my eye "Rayjens Pumpkin Pie For Shamel" (Romeo)

I loved how square, solid and shiny he looked, so much so, I even enquired about him so I could keep my eye out for possible future offspring.

Little did I know then that somehow the stars would align meaning that he himself would need a new home and the person whom id asked about him would remember that I liked him at Crufts!

So after a little bit of thinking (well at least 5 mins or so!) we were setting off to collect our new pack member and my first potential show dog!

Romeo, was called "Logan" when we met him but with a pack of dogs all with names beginning with R, Romeo was decided on, firstly because he came near our wedding anniversary and secondly because he is my only entire male!

And it suits him as he is so cuddly and happy.

He settled in great with my others and got into his new routine well.

He has a fabulous temperament and is full of typical min pin mischief!

Once he had settled in I thought I better book us in to some ring craft classes and then get our first show booked together!

I didn't realise there was so much to it!

I was very lucky that so many of the min pin community have helped me learn how to book shows, what to do once there, and give me so many hints, tips and their patience! We have visited 2 Breed club shows, 2 champ shows, and a few open shows this past year and I'm pleased to say even though he had already qualified to go to Crufts 2024 with his previous owners we have managed to qualify twice more together for it and have booked in to go!

Something I'm super excited for!

We/ I still have lots to learn in the show ring but Romeo's a great partner and is very patient with my mediocre handling, and we're looking forward to enjoying our showing journey together.

I have also introduced him to some other sports and he has done some mantrailing and started on scent work to which he has passed his foundation NNA odour test!

I also hope to start him on some agility and obedience training this year too!

We will keep you posted on the now fabulous 5's adventures!
